

What to Expect:

- Small classes of no more than 15 participants
- Supportive and intensive coaching
- Assessment of presenter and curriculum strengths and challenges
- Review of key research from the fields of moral development, cultural cognition, and education
- Cultivation of analytical processes that will enable participants to coach others effectively long after the Institute ends
- Hilarity

The Force of Awesome Institute

The Force of Awesome Institute, created and presented by Dr. Gail Stern and Heather Imrie, M.Ed., is designed to change the paradigm of prevention education and educator training programs.

Its focus is on enabling educators to develop and hone both their curriculum development and analysis, and provide coaching and direction that profoundly improves their presentations' delivery and ability to connect with diverse and challenging audiences.

Our combined 35 years of training and curriculum development experience will take your skills from good to great.

Past Institute Participants Rave:

"PHENOMENAL!!! CAREER ALTERING!!!"

"Heather and Gail's demeanor is so refreshing and humorously delightful! This is by far the best interactive course I've participated in."

"Being put in a position of being critiqued by experts and peers was invaluable in helping me to see where I can improve and to see where I can just be myself and acknowledge my strengths. I thought many times throughout the week that this was the best money that my organization has ever spent on me."

Join us for the next Force of Awesome Institute
October 20-24th 2014
email: cara@catharsisproductions.com to register